OUR MISSION

DEVELOPING A CHRISTIAN MIND

Forming discerning mental habits
in a world of opportunity and opinion

Prepare for further education

College is a way to prepare for effectiveness in an increasingly sophisticated world. Gain the skills you'll need to be successful in college. Build discernment to navigate college while maintaining alignment with the beliefs and values of Anabaptism.

"FB did an excellent job of preparing me to engage critically with the various philosophies and worldviews that I am encountering. Even at a graduate level, I find I am better prepared than a lot of my classmates to critically analyze the arguments, structures, and beliefs behind the counseling theories we are discussing."

Love of God
is the foundation of Christian thinking

The love of God gives a perspective on the world that informs all other pursuits. This perspective alters the way a student engages study in any field. Faith Builders is committed to the development of students whose love of God is the basis of every choice.

Vision is the ability to see the world and its needs through the love of God. It may be cultivated to extend service to all people, local and global.

Commitment honors the people that form us. It acts in ways that are respectful and demonstrate long-term commitment.

Competence links ideas with the capacity to carry them out. It identifies and develops the skills that are needed in a respective field.

Spiritual Disciplines such as prayer and the hearing of God through his Word, creation, and His people prepare our souls for spiritual service.

Intention Students in the General Studies track must formulate a plan for their college years. The plan is presented to peers and instructors for review and input.

Humility True wisdom is embodied in the ability to live, not just to articulate. Humility helps students to recognize the limitations of academic preparation.

Training and Events

preparing students for college

Faith Builders has developed several events and programs to prepare students for college education. These events range in length from the three day seminars to the two year General Studies track.

College Student Retreat

Three days during the summer

Fundamental questions about life and reality are raised in college. The people who ask questions first have a lot of influence on how students answer them. College Student Retreat is a supportive environment where attendees wrestle with the intellectual and spiritual challenges of college.

Winter Term

Five weeks during the winter

Winter Term is an opportunity for learning, Bible study, fellowship, and renewal. Included in the term are courses on Bible, business, discipleship, ministry, music, personal growth, and theology. General Studies students participating in Winter Term join the mix of pastors, short-term students, and families.

"Most college students don't bother to ask questions if they are confused about a concept. The classroom culture at Faith Builders is interactive. This culture has enabled me to take responsibility for the times I'm confused in college, and ask a question."
